Welcome to N°.01

Waxtape is a skate brand that only exists inside the ReSkate mod community.

Clothes are fictional, the fits are real.

In this issue: the first drop, a look-book, one spot worth skating and a deck with a story behind it. Nearly fifty thousand downloads in, it felt like time to say hi properly.

Thanks.

Sudiro

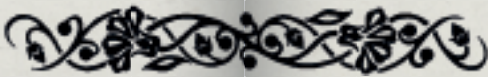

Highlights from the first drop, worn the way it's meant to be: by people who skate. Pick yours.

Teeth under the print

Every skater has a dentist story to tell. A board to the mouth, a curb that came up faster than expected, or a front tooth that's been "temporary" since 2011. StraightTeeth is for all of them.

The print is a grid of smiles: some perfect, some crooked, some clearly missing a piece. Put together, nobody looks better than anyone else. That's the idea. The skatepark doesn't care what your teeth look like. It just wants to see them when you land.

PLACE TO THE VOID

THE HANGOUT

Everyone stays at

The warmest light in ReSkate.

Built to be skated. Better for hanging out.

Every scene needs a place to waste time properly. Ours is a hangar. The AMC Hangout, ported by the GoodBarEnterprises team, is a community park tucked inside a building the size of a small airport, and the light in there does something the rest of the game doesn't. It's warm. It's slow. It's the kind of golden that makes a bail look intentional.

The lines don't fight you. They hand you off, bank to ledge to quarter, like the place already knows where you're going next. You don't plan a run here. You keep rolling and the park fills in the rest.

Then there are the rooms. Inside the hangar, AMC has set up little worlds of their own. Each one has its own props, its own mood and its own excuse to try one more. We've skated a lot of community parks. We hadn't seen any of this anywhere else.

It's always
GOLDEN HOUR

“Until grinds do us part”

A painting from 1890, eleven stairs and a kiss on the cheek.

www.pcmagazine.it/101

Inspired by Bouguereau's well-known 1890 painting Cupid & Psyche as Children. The one with bird wings is Cupid: Love. The one with butterfly wings is Psyche: the Soul. In Greek, psyche means both. Soul and butterfly, same word.

So that's what's under your feet. Love kissing the Soul on the cheek, while the Soul sleeps through it. Bouguereau painted it to hang in a salon. We put it somewhere it's guaranteed to get scraped, chipped and eventually snapped.

Every grind takes a little paint off the clouds, and every scratch makes it look more like it was always yours.

We called it Friendship because that's what a board is. It goes everywhere you go. It's there for the slams and the makes, the dead sessions and the ones nobody believes happened.

Love and Soul,
the whole session long.
